

CLAIMS

What Is Claimed Is:

1. An apparatus connected to an energy storage device for powering an electric motor and optionally providing a warming function for the energy storage device, said apparatus comprising:

a circuit connected to the electric motor and the energy storage device

5 for generating a current; and switching means operably associated with the circuit for selectively directing the current to one of the electric motor and the energy storage device.

Add a¹⁷